

DATA RELEASED UNDER REVISED BASE OF 2022-23

May WPI at 9.68% on high fuel prices

FE BUREAU
New Delhi, June 15

INDIA'S WHOLESALE PRICE INFLATION (WPI) jumped 9.68% on year in May, up from 8.26% in April, driven by higher prices of manufactured products, fuel and power.

In May, the WPI-based inflation was released on the revised base of 2022-23, replacing the earlier base of 2011-12. Along with the revised WPI, the Office of Economic Advisor in Department for Promotion of Industry and Internal Trade (DPIIT) released Output Producer Price Index (OPPI), Trial Input Producer Price Index (IPIPI), and Service Producer Price Index (Service PPI) of seven services for the first time. The WPI revision has resulted in expansion of the basket of products whose prices are tracked while compiling the index to 957 from 697. In the new WPI series, the weight of Fuel and Power has been raised to 14.11 from 13.15. In May, the inflation in this group was recorded at 30.33%. Within fuel and power the inflation in crude and natural gas stood at 61.51% while for mineral oils it was 49.82%.

The main driver of fuel inflation was the situation in West Asia that led to prices of petroleum crude and products remaining close to $100 a barrel. The impact of high fuel prices was seen in the inflation for manufactured products. The WPI for manufactured goods in May was 7.48% on year. Within manufacturing chemicals, metals & electrical equipments was where the maximum price pressure was seen.

WPI for primary articles was up 4.99%. The food index within WPI was up 4.49% in May. With positive developments around West Asia, global energy prices have seen significant cooling.

Centre releases PPI data, WPI to be phased out in five years

THE GOVERNMENT ON Monday came out with producer price index (PPI) data for both goods and services for the first time to better reflect price movement, paving the way for phasing out wholesale price inflation numbers in the next five years.

This is in line with practices adopted by advanced economies and the recommendations of the International Monetary Fund (IMF), which stressed that there is a growing need for India to transition from WPI to Producer Price Index (PPI).

Availability of both output

This is in line with the recommendations of the IMF, which stressed that there is a growing need for India to transition from WPI to PPI and input PPI would give a better understanding of the price movements of output items vis-a-vis input items being used in an industry.

"It also explains how inflation experienced by producers on input items is passed through the output being produced," the commerce and industry ministry said, adding that the release of WPI index would be discontinued after five years.

All India Output PPI for all commodities for May 2026 stands at 109.6, whereas it was 108.6 in April 2026, whereas the manufacturing sector in May 2026 stands at 104.9.

The ministry said the input PPI is being published on an experimental basis and would enable the department to examine the data quality and also receive feedback of stakeholders and users.

IMD: Monsoon 'deficient' at 28% of benchmark

● FM flags impact on farmers' income

SANDIP DAS
New Delhi, June 15

THE PROGRESS OF the southwest monsoon has been sluggish so far with cumulative rainfall until June 14 being just 28.4% below the benchmark longer period average (LPA) for the period. This is in the 'deficient' range, according to the India Meteorological Department's (IMD) criteria.

This follows the late arrival of monsoon over Kerala on June 5 against the usual date of June 1.

Finance Minister Nirmala Sitharaman on Monday expressed concern over the impact deficient rains would have on farmers' income as the IMD has officially forecast a below-normal monsoon for 2026. "Of course, we have enough buffer stocks. Since last year we've maintained it, so there shouldn't be a food shortage. But for farmers, it'll have an impact because this year his income will be stressed out," Sitharaman said at an event.

She also pointed to the challenge of securing fertilisers for farmers in the face of supply disruptions due to the West Asia war and resultant price fluctuations.

According to IMD, cumulative rainfall during June 1-June 14 was 40.2 millimeters (mm) against the LPA of 56.1 mm. In terms of monthly rainfall, the IMD has forecast "below normal rainfall" at less than 92% of LPA in June. This marks the first year since 2023 that seasonal rainfall is expected to fall below the LPA.

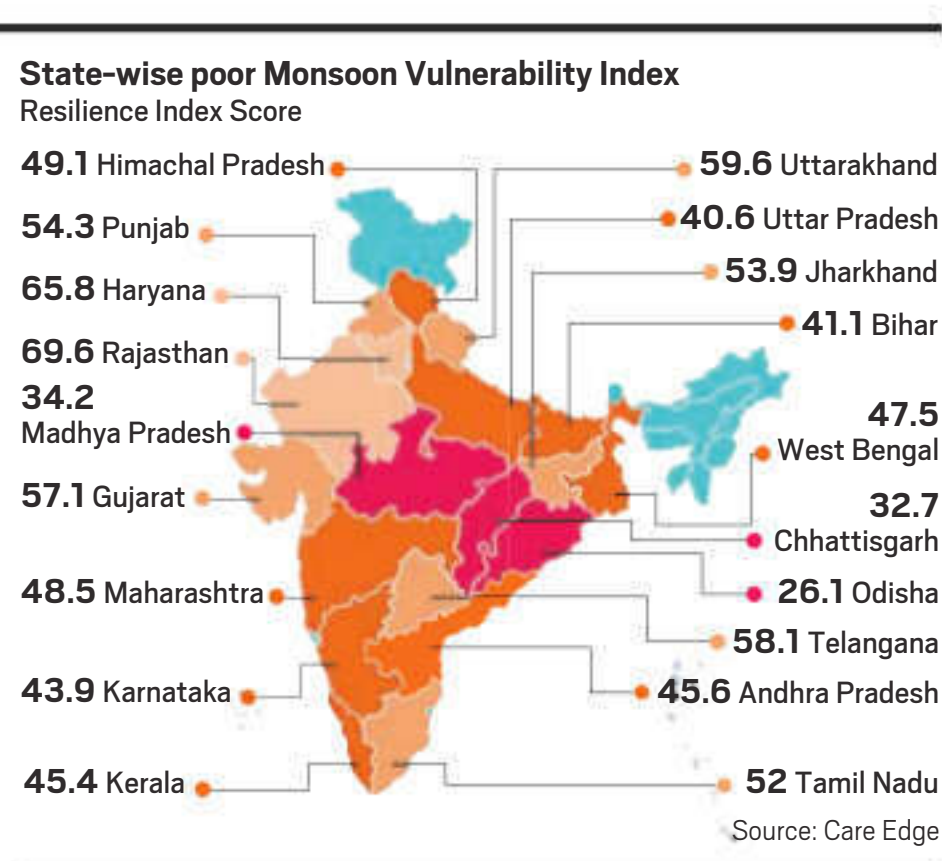

"There's an increasing probability that June will end with below-average rainfall in the country, with huge rainfall deficits in states such as Maharashtra and Gujarat in particular," Akshay Deoras, senior research scientist at the Department of Meteorology, University of Reading, UK, told FE.

Deoras said, "There are signs of the monsoon reviving after June 20. We can, therefore, expect rains to increase over peninsular India and the monsoon to advance into more parts of eastern India and some parts of central India by June 25".

ODISHA, CHHATTISGARH, MP MORE VULNERABLE TO EL NIÑO

STATES SUCH AS Odisha, Chhattisgarh, Madhya Pradesh and Uttar Pradesh are more vulnerable to the emergent El Nino. Odisha and Chhattisgarh have lower irrigation coverage —30.5% and 32.2%, respectively—compared to the national average of 60%, according to the Resilience Index Score developed by Care Edge. The two states also have a higher share of water-intensive crops in the kharif output. Uttar Pradesh also has high water-intensive kharif crops and Madhya Pradesh has relatively limited diversification towards allied activities. A lower score on the index implies the state is relatively more vulnerable, while a higher score denotes relative resilience. The rating agency used six parameters to construct the index: reservoir levels, the share of agricultural gross value added (GVA) in overall GVA, the share of non-crop GVA in agricultural GVA, irrigation coverage, the share of water-intensive crops in kharif output, and the average deviation of rainfall from long period average (LPA) over the last 50 years.
